HEYMANN WANTS THE WATER BOARD TO MAKE ACCOUNTING.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, HE SAYS, SHOULD FILE REPORTS AND VOUCHERS WITH THE CITY COUNCIL.

Alderman Simon Heymann occupied the center of the limelight at the adjourned meeting of the City Council Tuesday evening. He talked about twenty minutes on the following proposed resolution:

"An ordinance was passed by the City Council July 20th, 1908, creating a Public Works Committee and among other provisions provides: 'That the said Board shall constitute an executive Board, etc., but all such control, direction and power shall be subject to the general provisions of City Ordinance passed to regulate the same,' and at the end of Section four, 'the City Council shall keep and maintain control over the expenditures of said Board.'"

"Therefore, Be it resolved that the City Clerk be directed to order the said Board of Public Works to render a full account of the trust imposed upon them to date; to report to this Council if any contract for the construction of water works has been entered into with any one, and if so, whether said contract has been fulfilled in accordance with its terms and whether the said work has been accepted by the Board of Public Works and whether the said Board of Public Works have acquired any real estate, and if so to furnish the said council with the deeds thereof and further, to give an account of all the receipts and disbursements up to date.

"Be it resolved, That all the reports asked for, together with their vouchers, be filed with the City Clerk before the second Monday in January.

The resolution was laid on the table.

The Council ordered a number of names stricken from the registration list, and appointed J. M. Carson, W. B. Chittenden and J. L. Lynch, inspectors and D. D. Rogers, clerk of the municipal election to be held on February 9th.

One Thousand, six hundred and twenty-five dollars interest on the refunding and waterworks bonds was ordered paid.

The ordinance committee reported unfavorably the proposed ordinance providing for sewerage bonds in the sum of $50,000.

An ordinance, voluminous in length providing rules for the use of the city streets was passed on first and second readings. The proposed ordinance stipulates where drivers shall and shall not stop, the turns to make and various other provisions.

PRESIDENT'S WIFE TO ENTERTAIN THIS EVENING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—Mrs. Taft will give a small dance in the White House this evening, the invited guests being all from the younger set of Washington society, in honor of Miss Helen Taft and her brother, Robert Taft, who are at home for the holidays. Miss Taft has been quite the central figure in the festivities attending the holiday, and while she is not a debutante she has been a guest at their parties each day since her arrival here.

REVERE THE MEMORY OF GREAT ENGLISH COMMONER.

TODAY THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE — OBSERVED THROUGHOUT THE UNITED KINGDOM.

LONDON, Dec. 29—All the newspapers of London today devoted leading articles to the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of William E. Gladstone, and published retrospects of his career and his policies, with particular reference to the great issues now being fought out in the British election campaign. The Liberal press bestowed unstinted praise upon the statesman's memory, and even those papers which were opposed to him during his lifetime printed eulogistic articles on "the great commoner."

The centenary was generally observed throughout the United Kingdom. The National League of Young Liberals led in the observance and under its auspices countless memorial meetings were held. During the day thousands of persons visited the statesman's tomb in Westminster Abbey. Others made pilgrimages to Hawarden and to the Gladstone monument in front of St. Clement Dane's Church, in the Strand. The base of the monument was literally hidden from view by the wealth of wreaths and other floral offerings deposited there.

HOLDER OF TRANSATLANTIC RECORDS RETIRES TODAY.

CAPTAIN JOHN PRITCHARD HAS MADE HIS LAST TRIP AS COMMANDER OF THE MAURETANIA.

LONDON, Dec. 29—When the great Cunarder, Mauretania arrived at Liverpool and the bugle notes sounded the end of the trip, Capt. John Pritchard left the bridge, having made his last trip as commander of a transatlantic liner. His resignation becomes effective today.

Capt. Pritchard succeeded Captain Watt of the Lusitania, as commodore of the Cunard fleet, in October, 1908. His service in the line has been for more than thirty years. He entered the line as junior officer. Previously he had spent many years on sailing vessels. During the latter part of 1908 Capt. Pritchard commanded the Lusitania and early this year, when the "Big Mary" came out of the dry dock, after several months overhaul, he took command of her, and in a series of trips lowered all transatlantic records.

FREEZING WEATHER IS PREDICTED FOR TONIGHT.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE IS TRAVELING SOUTHWARD UPON THE HEELS OF THAT WHICH ARRIVED HERE LAST SUNDAY.

The weather report received by The Daily News this morning predicts freezing weather for north and central Florida tonight with light frost probably as far south as the 27th parallel, which touches Hobe Sound. The cold north wind blowing today bears out this unwelcome prediction.

CARDINAL SATOLLI, WHOSE ILLNESS CONCERNS THE ENTIRE WORLD.

When the cables reported the illness of Cardinal Satolli there was general regret throughout the United States, for the famous prelate made a host of friends on his visits to this country. He was interviewed by hundreds of newspaper men when he first came here as papal delegate in 1903, and when he was at the world's fair in St. Louis he renewed the acquaintance of many of the writers he had met years before. All of these men remarked upon the cardinal's excellent memory for faces, names and incidents. Satolli was born at Marsolano in 1839. His birthplace is in the archdiocese presided over for years by the late Pope Leo XIII, and the two were the closest friends for many years.

MOST PERILOUS AVIATION EVER YET ATTEMPTED.

CAPTAIN CODY STARTS ON DARING FLIGHT FROM LIVERPOOL TO MANCHESTER BUT STRIKES A TELEGRAPH WIRE.

LONDON, Dec. 29—Captain Cody, the noted American aviator who became a British citizen in order to make aeroplane experiments for the British War office, today started on the most daring flight ever tried by an aviator, but he had gone but 15 miles when his machine struck a telegraph wire and he was forced to descend. He will not resume his flight.

He arose in Liverpool and was attempting to fly to Manchester, nearly 10 miles distant. The course proposed was over hills, forests, villages and rivers. Langer flights have been attempted on level territory but nothing so dangerous. Immense crowds lined the course.

DYNAMITE BLOWS FOUR MEN TO FRAGMENTS.

MINERAL POINT, Wis., Dec. 29—Four men were blown to fragments at Ollie Bell mine today when 150 pounds of dynamite exploded. The men were taking tools from the powder house and are supposed to have accidentally dropped a dynamite cap.

HITCH IN PROPOSED PEACE CONFERENCE IN NICARAGUA.

MADRIZ WILL NOT ACCEPT THE STIPULATIONS OF ESTRADA IN NICARAGUAN SQUABBLE.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 29—A hitch in the proposed peace conference between President Madriz and Estrada is threatened today as the result of Estrada's evident intention to insist upon terms Madriz would not accept.

Madriz is so apprehensive of Estrada that he is rushing troops to Veragua to intercept Estrada's march against Managua.

One thing Estrada opposes particularly early is Madriz' suggestion that the revolutionists lay down their arms pending a general election.

THE LONDON EXPRESS CRITICIZES LIBERAL PARTY.

LONDON, Dec. 29—The London Express today charges President Churchill, of the board of trade, with suppressing statistics concerning the prosperity of American working men collected by his own department, for fear they would add impetus to the protest on the movement in England.

The Express intimates that the Liberals are afraid of losing the coming election should their free trade panacea be shown to be unwarrantable by American conditions.

PROMINENT DIVINES AND EDUCATORS IN ROCHESTER.

ATTENDING MEETING OF STUDENT VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS — 3,000 DELEGATES PRESENT.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 29—The Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, which owes its foundation to the late Dwight L. Moody, the celebrated evangelist, begun its sixth international convention in this city today with an attendance of over 3,000 delegates, representing schools, colleges and universities throughout America.

The convention will remain in session five days. The special features will be the addresses by some of the leading modern missionaries; the discussion of different phases of Christian work—industrial and educational, as well as evangelical and medical, and personal conference with men fresh from the missionary fields of the world.

Included among the scheduled speakers are Ambassador James Bryce, Bishop McDowell, of Chicago, Bishop Hendrix, of Kansas City, Bishop Lloyd, of Virginia; Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester of the United States, Baron Paul Nicolay, of Russia, and Samuel B. Capen, of Boston, president of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

RETIRE AFTER FORTY YEARS OF CAVALRY SERVICE.

BRIGADIER GENERAL WINFIELD S. EDGERLY LEAVES SERVICE TO-DAY BECAUSE OF PHYSICAL DISABILITY.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—Brigadier General Winfield S. Edgerly, until recently the commandant of the mounted service school at Fort Riley, Kas., was today placed on the retired list for physical disability. Gen. Edgerly was recently examined by a retiring board at his own request, and the board reported that he was physically incapacitated for active duty.

Gen. Edgerly is from New Hampshire, and was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1870. With the exception of a short period during the Spanish war, when he was attached to the volunteer inspector general's department, his entire service of nearly forty years has been in the cavalry.

Col. Walter Howe, of the Coast Artillery, now stationed at Fort Hancock, N. J., has been promoted to fill the vacancy in the list of brigadier generals caused by Gen. Edgerly's retirement.

TO ASK FOR BOUNTY ON ZINC ORE PRODUCTS.

NELSON, N. B., Dec. 29—A resolution of the Nelson chamber of commerce, passed today, is to demand that the Federal Government ask a bounty equal to that on lead for a duty on zinc ore products, such as spelter and oxides, which now enter Canada free from the United States. At present Kootenay zinc ore pays $10 duty and $10 freight, resulting in the United States smelter. It is argued that most of this ore would be saved by the construction of a home smelter.

THE LAMB AND THE LION LIE DOWN TOGETHER.

M. M. Stader, night watchman at the F. E. C. R. depot, has at his home on Third avenue one of those strange associations which sometimes occur in nature.

Mr. Stader recently separated two Maltese kittens from their mother, and at about the same time his terrier dog lost her puppies. The bereaved canine mother at once adopted the motherless kittens and may be seen contentedly nursing them, as though no racial antipathy existed.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS HONOR GEN. ALBERT PIKE.

CENTENARY OF THE "PATRON SAINT" OF THIS BRANCH OF MASONRY — WAS A DISTINGUISHED SOLDIER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—Scottish Rite Masons everywhere unite today in paying honor to the memory of General Albert Pike, known as the "patron saint" of Scottish Rite Masonry, on the one hundredth anniversary of his birth. Plans for a widespread observance of the centenary were perfected at a meeting in this city last October of the supreme council of Scottish Rite Masons for the Southern jurisdiction. In further commemoration of the anniversary the supreme council has distributed among its members two hundred medals bearing an image of the head and bust of General Pike and with an appropriate inscription.

Though General Pike is best known for his services to the Masonic fraternity, these do not by any means constitute his only claim to fame. He, in the course of his stirring career fought with distinction in two wars, attained national prominence as a journalist and was known as one of the most able lawyers of his day. He also found time to write much creditable poetry.

General Pike was a product of Massachusetts and in his youth attended Harvard University and subsequently taught school at Newburyport. At the age of 21 he went west and engaged in exploring the country. In 1832 he located in Arkansas, where he taught school for a time and then engaged in newspaper work. In 1835 he was admitted to the bar. Upon the outbreak of the Mexican war he recruited a company of cavalry, which he led at the battle of Buena Vista. He returned to his extensive law practice in 1849, and in 1853 transferred his office to New Orleans, returning to Arkansas in 1857. As the attorney for the Choctaw Indians, he obtained the award of nearly $3,000,000 from the United States government.

At the beginning of the civil war he was appointed Confederate commissioner to negotiate treaties of alliance with the Indians. He was appointed a brigadier general in the Confederate States army and took a leading part in the battles of Pea Ridge and Elkhorn. In 1866 he removed to Memphis, where he edited a newspaper, and two years later he came to Washington to practice law.

General Pike was a grand commander of the supreme council of 33rd degree masons, and was also grand commander of the royal order of Scottish Rite Masons. He compiled numerous Masonic rituals and also wrote a famous reply to Pope Leo XIII's bull against Masonry.

By L. C. DEMAREE.
One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River. Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamay food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white-headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon the beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners, if they chancing villas had from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon the sand the artistic features of a section of the country, they are the architects of a beautiful and artistic home.

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite, —where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruit.
Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels," birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round you are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious, golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.

The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbuktoo, and you will be "showed."
Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 20-horse power, and all degrees of speed from a snail to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you see the roads and the beach are yours.
The Florida sunshine is here, the blue ocean waves are here, the white sand and the palm trees are here, the sparkling tropical water is here and you will have to admit that it is a wonder.

It is a wonder, the most beautiful of all, and it is yours to enjoy. It will charm and hold you. Come and see.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature, 80 degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straightaway record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin.
For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach, these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours it is entirely rebuilt by the tides. The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church; at Daytona Beach is a M. E.
Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the list and right.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated.
The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering gardens have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of blooming hollyhocks and water.

Work of rebuilding the Glenside hotel is now in progress. This immense pre-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida
East Coast Automobile Association.

The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is hard to summer and winter with enthusiastic disciples of Izak Walton, who find it nothing unusual to land fish weighing several hundred pounds.

G. J. P. Turner

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low. A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile.

Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO
Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK
A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach.

Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with sub-tropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobilism, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moondgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moondgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to Deland Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute. From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

Camp Cassadaga, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

AUTOMOBILE PARTY FROM ORLANDO HERE TUESDAY.

THE ORLANDO AUTO PARTY, EN ROUTE TO JACKSONVILLE, STOPPED IN THIS CITY FOR DINNER YESTERDAY.

The party of Orlando autoists, making a trip to Jacksonville, arrived in this city yesterday, coming by way of DeLand, and put up for dinner at The Despland.

There were ten cars in all and some of the number were much later in getting in than others and were consequently later in getting away. W. S. Morris, manager of the San Juan Hotel at Orlando, who formed the party, waited in this city until all the cars had taken their departure.

Some of the earlier cars to leave here took the ocean beach route from this city to Ormond and one or more of them found a soft spot in the beach and had to have assistance to pull out.

The party as originally planned was much larger, but a heavy rain prevailed at the time of departure from Orlando, dampened the ardor of a number and prevented them from starting.

The trip was not a speed or endurance test, but is made merely for pleasure. The party were to spend last night at St. Augustine, going on to Jacksonville today.

They will leave Jacksonville tomorrow morning on their return trip, coming through the same day to this city, when they will again put up at the Despland. They report the road from this city to Orlando in very good condition with some few exceptions.

The party as registered at the Despland is as follows: Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Beeman, Miss Ray, Edwin P. Beeman, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brittain, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Overstreet, Dr. A. R. Whilman and wife, Jerome Palmer, Miss Branham, Miss L. F. Baislaw, Mrs. V. T. Moody, Paul J. Burgett, Wm. A. Ross, Mrs. M. Hotchkiss, Mrs. P. Lasher, Mrs. R. M. Clark, Miss Inez Ross, Mrs. Kate Wright and two daughters, Miss Norma Gettier, Whitney W. Wright, W. Wright, W. S. Morris, Geo. C. Keller, Mrs. D. C. Thompson and the Misses Addie and Ruth Thompson, Miss M. E. Scott and Mrs. A. G. Anthony.

MISTAKEN AS TO MAN WHOSE BICYCLE HE DAMAGED

It seems that Col. J. D. Robertson found he was mistaken in regard to the man whose wheel he struck with his car Monday afternoon. It was not the fellow who crossed in front of his automobile, and on whom his attention was centered, but the wheel of another man who had alighted and was standing at the roadside. As soon as Col. Robertson became convinced of this he arranged with Graham Thompson to repair the damaged wheel.

NOTABLE SOCIETY WEDDING OCCURS IN ATLANTA.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 29.—St. Margaret's Episcopal church was the scene this afternoon of the most notable society wedding that has taken place in Atlanta this season, the bride being Miss Mary Wallace Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Randolph Mason and the bridegroom, Philip Halsey Patchin. Bishop Nelson, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, pastor of St. Margaret's church.

BASE BALL OWNERS AND MANAGERS IN SESSION

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—With a disposition to smooth all petty differences that may have cropped out in the past and to prepare to work in harmony to make the coming season the most successful in the history of their organization, the base ball owners and managers of the American Association rounded up at the Grand Pacific Hotel today for their annual winter meeting. While the opposition to J. D. O'Brien has not entirely disappeared, the indications are that the meeting will decide to allow him to retain the presidency for another year.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

POOR HELP THE POOR.

There are some beautiful lessons in "the short and simple annals of the poor."

Here is one from Chicago:

A physician observed a young woman who scrubs the floors in a big office building where he has offices carrying a baby.

The baby bore no sort of resemblance to the girl, but was carried in such a tender, motherly manner as to cause the doctor to inquire of another scrubwoman:

"Is that her baby?"

"No, indeed," was the response. "The poor thing belongs to a neighbor woman who is desperately poor. Rosa is taking care of the baby so its mother can go out to work. Rosa can keep an eye on it while she does her own work."

Surprised at this fine revelation of practical helpfulness, the physician continued to talk with the scrubwoman, who said:

"Things of that kind are very common among us poor people. You comfortable ones seem to think that it is only the rich or well to do who do charity work. I tell you if you would associate with us tenement folks you would find that—

"The poor help the poor ten times where the rich help them once!"

Which is without doubt a truth.

We are apt to forget that philanthropy is not necessarily a matter of dollars and cents. Tender hearts beat under shabby clothes, and in succor calloused hands are often held out.

There are good reasons why the poor must help the poor.

The poor know the poor. They know their needs as others cannot know. The poor understand the poor.

Living in close touch in the tenements, they are at hand when misfortune overtakes a neighbor. They know what to do and why and how to do it.

The girl Rosa, warm hearted and kind, lives neighbor to the poor mother with the babe. She knows the mother's desperate straits. She knows the mother must work or starve and that she cannot take her baby. To know and to be close at hand is to sympathize. To sympathize is to help.

Resides—

What the poor do for the poor they do quickly. In their hard lives pathetic tragedies are constantly happening. These emergencies call for instant help. And he twice helps who helps quickly.

And so—

Though the surroundings may be forbidding and the lives harsh, all is not so dark. Disaster to the poor is met by the charity of the poor.

And, like stars, these deeds of mercy, though commonplace by repetition, shine brightly in the darkness of the squalor and suffering.

Told the Truth.

Excited fishermen in country hotel keeper—There isn't a bit of fishing about here! Every brook has a sign warning people off! What do you mean by luring anglers here with the promise of fine fishing?

Hotel keeper—I didn't say anything about fine fishing. If you read my advertisement carefully you will see that what I said was "Fishing unapproachable."—London Telegraph.

Sheep Guarding Birds.

The yakamk, a species of crane, is said to be one of the most intelligent birds known. The bird is used by the natives of Venezuela in the place of shepherd dogs for guarding and herding their flocks of sheep. It is said that, however far the yakamk may wander with the flocks, it never fails to find its way home at night, driving before it all the creatures intruded to its care.

Distance of the Pleiades.

It was calculated some years ago by the leading astronomers of Europe that anyone, the star in the Pleiades around which the sun and the whole solar system are thought to be revolving, was about 414,000,000,000 miles from us, a distance that it would take light about 163 years to travel, going at the rate of 186 miles a second.

Some damage to oranges and vegetables is reported from the sharp cold snap of last Sunday night.

Charles Cook and Lars Bostrom were in Daytona last week Friday looking after some repair work on Mr. Cook's automobile.

Oscar Richards has put in order the V. I. A. clock which "went on a strike" last summer. Mr. Richards is an expert clock repairer but does not want the fact known as he is here for rest and garden making.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Caswell, with their two children, made a brief call at W. A. Barker's last week Friday on their way home to Newport, R. I. Mr. Caswell is president of the Newport town council. He expects to return next year for a longer stay.

We were pleased to greet Dr. T. F. Evernden, of Seabreeze, last Sunday. He was accompanied by his son, Hans, who is station agent at Delray, and home for the day. With Ralph, the other son, home from Fort Pierce, the entire Evernden family was united that day.

Married at the Congregational parsonage, Ormond, by Rev. G. B. Waldron, at 2:00 p. m., on Dec. 23, Bert Rawlins to Mrs. Anna Wells, both lately of Daytona. Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins are living for the present with the bride's parents, who have rented Mrs. Simrall's house on Sixth avenue.

BALTIMORE HAS GOOD STREETS, POOR SEWERAGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The census bureau in an announcement today gives Baltimore the doubtful honor of having nearly one-third of the cobble stone paved streets of the country. It also gives Baltimore bottom place in sewerage mileage, with only 62 miles.

C. M. and Walter Rogers returned to Mayport Sunday accompanied by Roy Barnes who intended to stay with them for a few days.

Needed the Knife.

Speaking of table etiquette, General E. Bird Grubb told a story about a man who was justified in eating pie with a knife. Smith was standing in a hotel lobby one day, according to the general, talking to Jones, when the conversation turned to a dinner that had been given at the home of a mutual acquaintance named Brown.

"You should have seen Brown," remarked Jones, referring to one of the guests. "I thought he had better table manners. When his pie was served, he actually ate it with his knife."

"I don't blame him for that," was the starting remark of Smith.

"You don't blame him?" repeated Jones in amazement.

"No," said Smith. "I have eaten pie at Brown's house, and it is a wonder to me that Brown didn't take an ax."—The Commercial Appeal.

The Woman With the Transfer. With a transfer ticket punched to expire at 12 o'clock an elderly woman got on a car.

"I can't take this, lady," said the conductor. "I see it's marked for 12, but now it's ten minutes of 2. The ticket's been dead for nearly two hours."

"Well," was the woman's reply, "I took the first car I could get after leaving the bank. I had to wait to have my interest figured up."

"If it took you two hours to figure the interest on my money I wouldn't argue about a transfer. I'd pay my fare or ride in an auto," said the conductor.

The woman made no reply, but fished a handkerchief out of her hand bag and gave it to the conductor.—New York Press.

Haughty.

"Were you ever arrested before?" asked the magistrate, whose principal business is imposing fines for speeding. "What do you think I've been doing all these years?" asked the chauffeur—"pushing a wheelbarrow!"—Washington Star.

Will Jenks returned to Lynn, Mass., on Christmas afternoon, where he has charge of the extensive business of Mrs. Isabella Simpson. We hope to see him again some time during the winter.

Those boys who are running their wheels upon the sidewalk in front of the post office should be reminded that by so doing they are endangering the safety of patrons of the office. This practice is contrary to town ordinances and if persisted in will doubtless bring trouble upon the wheelmen.

The Vogt family have taken one of Wilson Miller's cottages on Lincoln avenue. Friends of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, will be interested to learn that she was married on June 29th last, at the family residence in Niagara Falls, N. Y., to Fred M. Ackerson, county district attorney. Mrs. Ackerson has not forgotten Ormond and hopes to make a brief visit here this winter.

W. A. Barker has built a gas house of cement blocks in the rear of his home on Palmetto avenue. He expects to put in an acetylene plant designed ultimately to serve his several houses. He has also built a pit of cement blocks for a ram to take the place of the overshot water wheel which is more picturesque but less reliable than the ram. The cement was furnished by L. P. Freeman.

Mrs. L. P. Freeman spent Sunday with Mr. Freeman's mother at Daytona Beach. She is to be congratulated that little Bessie has recovered from her recent illness.

Early Earrings.

The earring is not a modern invention, for more than twenty centuries ago the daughter of Aristotle wore golden hoops. The philosopher's daughter's earrings were found in her tomb near Chalcis, in Euboea, by exploring archaeologists, and certainly modern workmanship cannot produce their equal. In each golden hoop swung a tiny dove, with precious stones for eyes and hands of minute gems to give the color of the iridescent breast and wings. The feathers were of granulated gold, and the tail feathers were so marvelously wrought and adjusted that they acted like a balance, as in a living bird, so that the exquisite miniature creatures whenever the wearer moved or laughed or tossed her head would move and balance themselves upon their pendant perches.

Colors in Poetry.

As to color, Grant Allen maintained in an "Essay on the Color Sense" that only eight colors are recognized by the popular mind—black, white, red, blue, green, yellow, gray and brown. Educated people speak of scarlet, crimson, lilac and purple only under exceptional circumstances. In a prosaic hour Grant Allen went through "Poems and Ballads" on the quest for color and found that Swinburne used the word red 151 times, rose and crimson once each and sanguine, ruddy and scarlet twice each. Gold is mentioned thirteen times. Blue reaches twenty-five. And the prosaic conclusion is "to adopt the statistical form, we might say, if we chose to reckon the unreckonable, that red is 500 per cent more poetical than blue."

Her Strong Faith.

"Oh, Tom," exclaimed the fair young maid as their auto drew along "there's a church just ahead there!" "But," replied the eloping lover, "we can't be married there."

"Well, but we might stop there and pray that we may not be overtaken!"—Uncle Remus Magazine.

Two to One.

She—Charlie, why are you so very much opposed to piano duets? He—From principle. I think it's cowardly for two persons to attack one piece of music.

The Hint That Failed.

Wife—A new year's gift gets you clothes every year—do you want any more? Husband—Yes, indeed, but makes them all used.—The Gentleman.

San Marino.

San Marino, the smallest independent state in the world, has two presidents—a politician and a peasant—who are elected every six years. The state is without taxes. For five years there has been no soldier in the country.

Mrs. Alfred I. Du Pont.
Wife of Managing Head of Great Powder Company.

Mrs. Alfred I. Du Pont is the wife of the vice president and active head of the big Delaware Powder company known as the trust. It was on his wife's account that Mr. Du Pont recently sued his cousin, Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford Du Pont, for slander.

Happy Thought.

Mrs. Newed—How does the breakfast suit you, darling? Newed—It's just right, sweetheart. It may be rather piebald, but just the same I'm awfully fond of calf's liver. Mrs. Newed—So am I, dearest. Don't you think it would pay us to keep a calf? Then we could have calf's liver every morning for breakfast.—Chicago News.

Not That Kind.

Charlie came to the doctor's office in a state of great excitement and said: "Please, doctor, come right straight down to see Freddy. Mother says he's wreathed in agony."—Delineator.

The Responsible Party.

Visiting Relative—How aristocratic your father looks with all that gray hair! The Naughty Son—Yes, and he's got me to thank for it too.—Puck.

His Strong Point.

A bright schoolboy has written a composition on the turtle, in which he says: "A turtle is not so frisky as a man, but he can stand a hot coal longer on his back without squealing."

"Going once! Going twice! Going three times and sold to Mr. Ebenezer Pollock for $1,900!"

The auctioneer's hammer fell with a resounding thud and nearly grazed the nose of the purchaser.

"Didn't mean to damage a good customer," chuckled the man of the hammer as he pulled down the red flag above the gate and climbed into his buggy. "Come down to Lawyer Fitch's office bimely, 'Nezer, and we'll close the deal right and proper."

"Very well," said Ebenezer gruffly.

He watched the crowd of women tip-toeing out of the house and waited until the last one had passed through the gate, each with a furtive glance at the new owner. He was aware that they marveled because he had bought a ghost ridden house.

When he was alone in the shadows of the tall oaks he looked up at the house, dark and forbidding in the midst of rank grass and weeds. Whatever had been its original color, it was now faded to a dingy mustard hue, blotched with the dark green of heavy wooden shutters tightly closed.

There were years and years when the shutters had never been closed. Those were the days before old Simon Elmsbury's granddaughter had run away with the schoolteacher and had in consequence been disinherited by the old man. Simon had left the house and land and furniture to the Foreign Missionary society, and now, five years after his death, they had put it up at auction, and Ebenezer had bought it at much below its real value.

It was well known that Simon would have opposed his granddaughter's marriage to any man. He was selfish enough to wish to keep her at his side to wait upon him, for she was the only relative he had.

"Let us come and live with you, grandfather," Cornelia had pleaded with her arms around his neck. "You will like Henry better when you know him." But the obdurate old man had angrily flung her aside, and the next day the girl had been married to Henry Stone and disappeared from Melville.

After that Simon Elmsbury closed the main part of the house and lived in the east wing for ten years, and then he died without one relenting word to Cornelia. The Stones had never been heard from since their departure from Melville. No one knew where they lived or even if they were alive. Old Simon Elmsbury went to the grave unattended by any relative.

Since Simon's death gossip had it that the house was haunted. On stormy nights, the credulous said, the old piano tinkled softly behind the closed shutters, and a woman's thin, sweet voice was heard singing in low tones. Snatches of this weird music could be heard sometimes in the hush of shrieking wind or dashing rain. On other nights all was still. Some claimed that Cornelia was dead and that her sweet spirit came back to sing in the rooms of the old home, where she had spent a happy girlhood.

In spite of ghostly rumors, Ebenezer Pollock had suddenly made up his mind to give up boarding in the village hotel and occupy a home of his own. The Elmsbury place suited him. It was near his harness shop, and the east wing was just large enough to serve his simple purposes. As for the main portion of the house, he gave it over to rats and mice and mold.

Now he walked up the path and entered the front door, creaking rustily on its hinges in the south breeze that swept the yard. On the second door a door banged loudly. Ebenezer started, and then, with an exclamation of disgust, entered the house.

A long, dark hall stretched away into inky blackness, and to the right and left open doors gave glimpses into darkened rooms faintly illuminated with candles placed there by the auctioneer.

Ebenezer creaked in and out of the rooms filled with decaying furniture, carefully blowing out the candles. Upstairs the candles were flickering strangely, and there was a chill in the large north bedroom as if from an open window, but all the windows were tightly shuttered and barred.

Once outside again, he turned the great brass key in the front door with an involuntary sigh of relief. The east wing had a separate entrance and was shut off from the rest of the house by a sealed door. A day's work by black Anna would make the wing very habitable for him and his bachelor belongings. Ebenezer didn't want a housekeeper--he detested women.

He had lived in the Elmsbury place for three weeks before he heard the singing ghost. It was the 21st of September, and the equinoctial gale was shaking the old house to its very foundations. Ebenezer had gone to bed, but he could not sleep. The wind screamed down the wide chimney and whistled around the windows. The roar of beating rain drowned all sound save the whistling wind. There were creaking sounds beyond the walls, and Ebenezer fell to thinking of the ghost.

It was then that the wind paused for breath and the rain fell more lightly. From a distance came the echoing jangle of an old piano touched by timid fingers and a mere thread of melody in a woman's voice; then the rain continued its monotonous beat, and he heard the music no more.

Ebenezer Pollock was angry. He resolved to lay the intruding ghost if possible, and so the next day when a watery sun rendered the house a little less dreary he lighted a lantern and unsealed the door that led into the other side of the house.

The house was quite as dusty and forlorn as on the day he had bought it. Strangely enough, Ebenezer did not look at the little piano which stood open just as Cornelia Elmsbury had left it so many years ago, with a yellowed sheet of music upon the rack. He scurried through the rooms with a half realization that some slender spirit was flitting through the rooms away from his contaminating presence.

A few weeks afterward there came another storm of wind and rain, and again he heard the ghostly music. Ebenezer had a twinge of the rheumatism that night, and he very irritably rapped on the wall with his cane. The music stopped abruptly, and he did not hear it again, although there were many storms that fall.

One winter evening, when the old house was wrapped in a blinding snow-storm, Ebenezer awoke from his first sleep with every muscle aching and drawing with pain. Rheumatism held him a captive. For hours he groaned dismally, conscious that the fire in his air tight stove was nearly out at a time when he needed heat. There was no ministering hand to apply hot fannels to his swollen joints and muscles or to allay his torture with soothing liniments.

It was then that the ghost came again--this time with groping fingers upon the sealed door. It knocked gently and spoke to him in faint, frightened whispers.

"Go away!" shouted Ebenezer wrathfully. "Go away, ma'am! It ain't proper that you should be loitering around here! Go away, I say!"

There was a silence, and presently Ebenezer's thick, grizzled hair stood almost upright on his head. Ghostly footsteps sounded in the rooms over his head and softly, tap, tap, down the narrow staircase that opened into his bedroom.

The lamp beside his bed gave forth a cheering light, and Ebenezer Pollock, thoroughly frightened for the first time in his life, watched with fascinated eyes the slowly opening door at the foot of his couch.

Tall and slender and pale, she stood before him at last, her tender blue eyes filled with pitying tears. Perhaps she was forty years old, but the hair framing her delicate face made her appear much younger.

"I could not bear to hear you moaning with pain all alone. My husband used to have rheumatism before he died, and I know just what to do," she said in a low tone.

"Ma'am!" gasped Ebenezer. "Ma'am!" He watched her slender figure as it flitted to and fro about his rooms. She mended the fire, and soon its cheering warmth brought relief to his aching limbs. She heated water and flannel cloths and applied soothing liniments with very human fingers.

When the lines of suffering had relaxed and Ebenezer's face still sought hers questioningly she sat down in a low chair and spoke somewhat sadly.

"I'm Mrs. Stone--Cornelia Elmsbury that was. I've been living here four years."

"Here--in this house? How?" demanded Ebenezer doubtfully.

"In the big back attic," said Cornelia, with a little smile. "It looks out on the tall chestnut woods, you know, and the short chimney comes out there. Grandfather left the cellar full of coal and wood. I've got it real comfortable up there, and on stormy nights I'd come down in the dark and play on my piano till you drove me away. I used to walk over to Belton on dark evenings and get all my groceries and things. It was hard work, but it was heaven to me to get home again after all I went through!" She broke into sobs.

"What made you hide? What did you do it for?" asked Ebenezer excitedly.

"My husband was poor. He died and left a little insurance money--just enough to buy my food and not enough to pay rent. My eyesight is so poor I cannot work, and so I thought I would come back here. I heard the place was shut up, and it was my own by rights. I knew I'd be driven out if any one knew I was here!"

"You poor little thing!" cried Ebenezer pityingly. "Stay here just as long as you like!" There was a long silence after that, while the little widow cried happily before the fire. Ebenezer was thinking rapidly. "If you ever go away, ma'am," he said, with a great blush, "I'll go after you and bring you back here and!" He paused.

It happened that one day the ghost deserted the Elmsbury house, and Ebenezer kept his word and went after her--and brought her back a bride to her old home.

His Little Joke

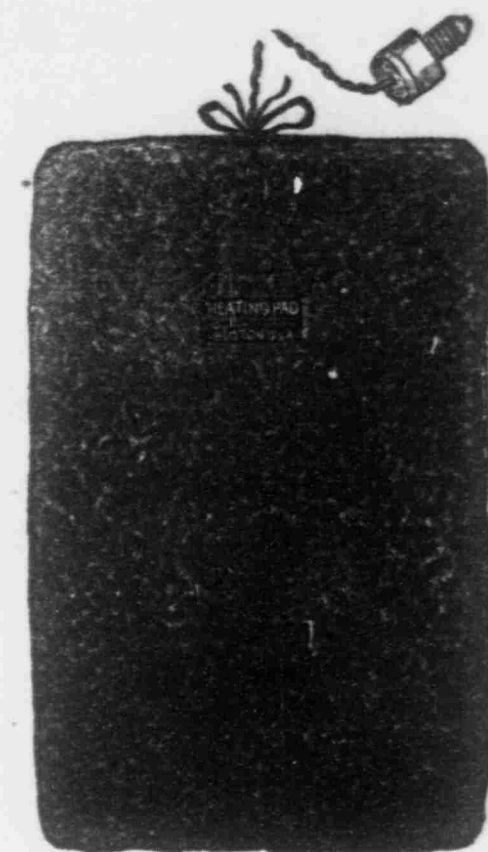

An enterprising Philadelphia restaurant proprietor hung out a large black-board sign one day with the following announcement: "You Can't Beat Our 15 Cent Dinners."

This sign proved to be a good drawing card until a young man of humorous turn of mind came along. The latter, seeing the sign, stopped and after scrutinizing it closely smiled one of those smiles which bode no one any good. He waited until none of the employees was watching, and, taking out his handkerchief, he erased the letter "b" from the word "beat."

The transformation was complete, and it was not until a crowd had collected that the proprietor of the restaurant discovered why there was larger crowd outside than inside.
